

Date: December 19, 1981

Author: Jim Gordon

Category: Gordon and other Talks-Reports

12/19/81

SYMBOLS

It is so good to get with you once again my Brother and share with you knowledge that few as yet are ready to understand. We hope your life will soon make it so we can share with you more of the inner truth. Lately your outer life has been so active it has been difficult at times to commune.

This is an understanding of symbols. Symbols at one time played a very different role than they do now, and I hope to share with you the evolution of them.

At one time in the distant past when manhood was in its infancy, humanity was in need of help from outside itself to aid in its growth and spiritual development. For this to take place a call went forth universally for souls, who wished, to come to Earth and help in mankind's development. When this call went forth many souls from different parts of the universe responded.

Some souls who responded and came here did so for their own benefit and motives not really in balance with the call that went forth. Others came, and responded to the call, coming to Earth to aid man in his struggle for true identity. It was at this time with the influx of so many souls coming here that the use of symbols began to play such a major role.

Souls of this planet, Earth, were known by of light or shadow in their auras which appeared as a crescent shape, like that of the moon.  This symbol can still be seen in society today playing a role representing those souls of Earth. See it in many of the religious symbols of the world, in Islam, Hinduism, and some Buddhist sects. Also, the crescent is a major shape in the manner and cycle of the Communist flag.

The souls from Orion and other systems who came here mainly for their own gain or to influence the Earth negatively were known by the symbol of a five pointed star  reflecting their desire to experience and become involved in the 5 senses of physical man. These souls often desired to control man's evolution negatively and influence his pattern of growth away from truth. The 5 pointed star is seen today in some religions of the world, Islam, Buddhist, Hinduism, and witchcraft as well as seen in the red star of Communism. Here we see the influence these souls have had on mankind of this Earth. I do not mean to say these souls are negative or evil in the true sense of the word, but rather are merely grounded to the Earth vibration and physical experience and hope to hold other souls there as well.

Then there are souls from higher spiritual planets, such as Clarion and others were these souls came to help upraise man to his true spiritual identity. These souls were known as the chosen ones for they were the wise ones of old, full of knowledge and wisdom concerning God and spirit. They were known by the 6 pointed star . It represents souls who have overcome the lower self and the 5 senses of man and awakened to the higher self. Later the sign was associated with the Jewish faith, the chosen people. They are a reflection of the truth of the past.

Then there are souls who came here from yet higher spiritual realms whose embodiments are beyond the comprehension of most. They came here to overshadow the development and growth of humanity and rarely do they take physical embodiment. They are known by a 12 pointed star. Showing they are a reflection of the perfected 6 senses of man and reflect back those 6 in perfect balance and understanding. This symbol is little understood or seen yet on Earth, though it has played a role with past and will again play a major role in the future of humanity.

The cross represents the coming together of these souls to find common ground of communication and work.

Thus Christianity is the coming together of many souls of different backgrounds of evolution and development attempting to unite for common and individual growth.

I hope this gives you a new understanding of this ancient truth. I will yet expand on this principle of truth at a later date.